

LINCOLN FAVORED.

For Secretary of the Treasury.

NEWLANDS ON FREE COINAGE.

Red Hot in Halifax Over Church and State.

King Humbert Asks Crispi to Remain.

Newlands on Free Coinage.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—When the House Coinage Committee met this morning, Representative Carter read a communication from William E. St. John, a New York banker, arguing in favor of the Senate Silver bill and ridiculing the predictions of dire disaster made by the opponents of the bill if it should be enacted.

Francis G. Newlands declared Germany would never have succeeded in demonetizing silver without the co-operation of one of the strongest nations on earth, the United States. Bismarck himself had since pronounced the movement a mistake, but in that movement Germany had found an assistant, not a European nation, but the United States, a nation struggling toward specie payment. When the Bland act had passed the bankers predicted all our gold would leave the country; yet in 1880, after the passage of that act, the gold circulation was $268,000,000, as against $106,000,000 in 1870. Predictions of disaster had thickened during the ten years following, yet in 1890, after the passage of the present act, the gold circulation increased to $386,000,000.

Lincoln the Coming Man.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The Herald's Washington special says, "It is given out that the President's purpose in asking an extension of time within which Secretary Windom's successor must be appointed had especial reference to Robert Lincoln, Minister to the Court of St. James. Lincoln is not at all satisfied with his present post. His appointment furnished the strongest evidence of President Harrison's personal regard for him for it was made without solicitation on his part. In fact, the Illinois Senators did not themselves know it was going to be made until the President so informed them. Since the death of his son, Lincoln has been more restless than ever and the best information is that if the Treasury portfolio be tendered to him, he will accept it. His appointment, from a political point of view, would be regarded as an especially happy one. No public man in America is so universally popular with the colored race, as the son of the great war President."

Church and State.

HALIFAX (N. S.), Feb. 4.—The sensation of the day here is Archbishop O'Brien's letter to the Herald, defending the activity of the Catholic clergy in practical politics. It is in reply to a criticism on Bishop Cameron's support of Sir John Thompson and the threats of the Bishop's political enemies to appeal for protection to the Pope. Archbishop O'Brien strongly defends the right of the clergy to take an active part in politics. He does not propose, he says, that the church, the mother of modern kingdoms, and which shaped the legislation of civilized Europe, shall now stand aside and leave a free hand and clear field to scheming partisans to wreck for their own selfish ends, more work which she intended and over which she had kept guard for centuries.

Way Below Zero.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 4.—Cold weather prevails here and throughout the northeast. In this city this morning the mercury was 11° below zero, and during the night it ranged from 20° to 25° below zero in different parts of the city. In the Dakotas the cold has already begun to break, the thermometer being from 10° to 30° higher than yesterday.

Cold in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The temperature last night was the coldest of the year. At 5 o'clock this morning the Signal Service thermometer marked eight degrees below zero, but at 10:30 it stood at zero.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—In the Senate, after transacting the morning business, there was a short executive session, after which the doors were re-opened and the consideration of the fortification bill resumed.

Senator Stewart has introduced an amendment proposed by him to the pensions appropriation bill, which is identical with the silver bill as it passed the Senate.

The bill favorably reported to-day by Senator Callom to amend the Inter-State Commerce act, provides that competing common carriers may, with the approval of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, enter into contracts or agreements with respect to traffic, when in the opinion of the committee the general public interest and general welfare may be thereby subserved.

The Senate passed the fortifications bill and has taken up the military academy appropriation bill.

HOUSE.

McKinley asked unanimous consent that during the remainder of the session the House meet at 11 A. M., but Rogers of Arkansas objected. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. During the debate on the bill McAdoo of New Jersey gave his hearty assent to the position taken by the Secretary of State relative to reciprocity with Canada. The United States should have unrestricted trade and commercial union with Canada, or it should have no commercial relations with her. The only solution of the problem (a solution unsought by the United States) was that the people of Canada should, in their sovereignty, ask for annexation, which was the ultimate destiny of Canada.

Destructive Fire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The fire which broke out last night in the Hecla Iron Works in Brooklyn and which brought out every engine in the city, was under control by daylight. The large buildings of the iron company were destroyed and a number of surrounding structures seriously damaged. Mr. Paulsen, of Paulsen & Ecker, the proprietors of the Hecla Iron Works, said their loss is about $500,000, mostly on patterns. Most of this is covered by insurance. The other losses amounted to $45,000.

To-day's Races.

CLIFTON, Feb. 4.—First race—Mile and quarter.—Middlestone, 1st; Groomman, 2nd; Lafitte, 3rd. Time, 2:18.

Second race.—Five furlongs.—Frank L, 1st; Humility, 2nd; Telephone, 3rd. Time—1:05 3/4.

GLoucester, Feb. 4.—First race.—Seven furlongs.—J S, 1st; Amboy, 2nd; Amalgam, 3rd. Time—1:39.

Festus fell in this race.

Second race.—Three quarter mile.—Lum, 1st; Sir Rae, 2nd; Coore, 3rd. Time—1:24 1/4.

Crispi Asked to Remain.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The Figaro's Rome special says: Zanardelli, Crispi's Minister of Justice, was summoned yesterday to form a Cabinet. He has advised the King to again entrust Crispi with the formation of a Ministry. Zanardelli stated he could not consent to form a Cabinet unless Crispi absolutely refused to undertake the task. Later, it is understood, Humbert asked Crispi to withdraw his resignation. The latter is undecided.

Dividend on Lead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The national lead trust to-day declared a dividend of 50 cents share for the first quarter.

The following trustees were elected to hold office until the first Wednesday in February, 1894: F. W. Rockwell, W. H. Thompson, R. B. Colgate. F. A. Cole was elected trustee to fill a vacancy.

Sunk at the Wharf.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 4.—The steamer Circe from Glasgow sunk this morning at the dock. The cargo of flour is being removed, considerably damaged. Some one on board is supposed to have left open one of her waste pipes through which the sea entered. No lives were lost.

A Rear-end Collision.

MARSHILLON, (Ohio), Feb. 4.—A rear end collision on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling railroad at Beach City this morning between two freights, resulted in killing a fireman and fatally injuring a brakeman.

A Black Sheep in the Fold.

SPARTANBURG, (S. C.), Feb. 4.—W. Zimmerman, a storekeeper and the agent of the Farmer's Alliance supply store in this city is said to be short in his accounts from fifteen to thirty thousand dollars.

Irish Affairs.

DUBLIN, Feb. 4.—The Freeman's Journal to-day announces that Parnell held a short, friendly and important conference with O'Brien at Callias on Monday. The McCarthyites were also in conference. The result of these deliberations will be published at the end of the week. There is no truth in the report that an absolute settlement of matters in dispute in the Irish Parliamentary has been partly arrived at. Parnell yesterday informed his colleagues that he believed that in a few days home rule, such as he had always demanded, would be assured. The Dublin Express says Parnell compelled McCarthy to adopt an attitude which Parnell vainly asked him to assume in November.

The Express adds: The signs multiply which indicate that Parnell forced the Liberals and that the Liberals intended to stand or fall by a drastic sweeping home rule scheme. Morley was first to succumb, then LaBouchere, after declaring Parnell insane, endorsed "the madman's" demands, while the Daily News exalts its vocabulary to commend McCarthy's "statesman's like speech."

California Legislature.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—Among the bills introduced were the following: by Kellogg, for the preservation of timber land; by Baughman, to encourage the cultivation of ramie; by Young, to prohibit the coming of Chinese to the State. An extended argument took place on the resolution of cutting down debates to fifteen minutes. Renfroes amendment making it ten minutes finally carried. The second reading of bills was then taken up.

SENATE.

The Committee on Claims reported favorably on D. Jordan's claim against the State for $79,000. A number of bills were introduced, amendatory to the codes.

The Cherokee Outlet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The House Committee on Territories to-day agreed to report a substitute for Mansurs bill for the opening of the Cherokee outlet to settlement. It will provide in brief, for the payment to the Indians for lands at the rate of $1.25 per acre and for opening land to settlement under the homestead laws only. It will contain strict provisions to prevent illegal entries to lands prior to their opening and will carry an appropriation of $7,490,000.

A Captain Killed.

MUSKOGEE, (I. T.), Feb. 4.—Yesterday Government Agent Miller and Mr. Insley started out escorted by eighteen guards with $100,000 to settle the second per-capita purchase money of the Creek Nation. When about twenty miles out a quarrel arose between Gov. McIntosh, Captain of the guard, and Bob Marshall, an Indian policeman. The latter shot McIntosh with a Winchester rifle, killing him instantly.

Decision of a Receiver.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 4.—Receiver Erb of the Kansas City, Wyandott and Northwestern, who was appointed referee in the Rock Island & Chicago, Kansas and Nebraska controversy, has forwarded his decision to Judge Caldwell of the United States Court. The controversy arose over an attempt to foreclose the mortgage on the Chicago Kansas and Nebraska railroad.

White Caps Acquitted.

ANDERSON (Ill.), Feb. 4.—After a trial of ten days Captain Richardson of the Scatterfield White Caps, was acquitted by a jury to-day. The cases against the five men indicted with Richardson will be dismissed. Great indignation prevails over the verdict.

No Senator in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.), Feb. 4.—Crockrell, an F. M. B. A. member, being sick to-day, his two colleagues and the Republicans in joint assembly refrained from voting for Senator. No quorum resulted, and the assembly adjourned after the first ballot.

English Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—In the House of Commons to-day Gladstone moved the second reading of the bill to remove religious disability, and made a long and earnest speech in support of the measure. It was defeated by a vote of 256 to 223.

Dynamite Explosion.

MARSHILLON, Feb. 4.—A dispatch says that a number of artillerymen belonging to the garrison at Monte Pliero, England, were charging a mine with dynamite when the charge exploded, fatally injuring nine men.

Water in a Coal Mine.

WHITE HAVEN (Pa.), Feb. 4.—About ten o'clock this morning the water broke into a mine at Janesville and seventeen men were drowned.

COST OF THE WAR.

It Will Aggregate $2,000,000.

SNOW BLOCKADE IN COLORADO.

A Medley Of Matter From the Coast.

Owenby Arrested on a Trifling Charge.

Owenby Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—James A. Owenby, the witness before the Silver Pool Committee, was arrested to-day as soon as released from the order of the House on a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses, in having cashed a check for $17, which was returned by Donald, of the Hanover National Bank, after the passage of the silver law with a refusal to honor it.

Owenby told the officer he had informed the man who cashed the check that he would pay him as soon as he received his witness fees, and offered to go with the officer and discharge the obligation; but the warrant having been issued, the officer told Owenby he must go to court.

When Owenby was released by the Silver Pool Investigating Committee this morning, David T. Littler was recalled. He did not remember having stated to Owenby that any Senators or Representatives were interested in silver, and did not believe he ever did, for it would not have been true except as to Cameron. Littler declared he knew nothing but what he had stated on the stand before and that he had never heard any Congressman say he was interested in silver.

Charles S. Bradley, cashier of the National Bank Republic of this city, had no knowledge in regard to silver speculations.

Cost of the Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The estimate sent to Congress by the Secretary of War to supply the deficiency in the quartermaster's department shows the cost of the Indian campaign just closed to be $1,300,000. The principal items of this are $935,000 for transportation of troops and supplies; $138,000 for extra clothing, camp and garrison equipage necessary to fit out for the winter campaign; $70,000 to replace horses broken down in the campaign and for the purchase of ponies, and $87,000 to cover the difference in the cost of supplies purchased for troops in the field and the contract prices at the post from which the troops were drawn. There were other expenses under the supply department that will probably bring the total cost of the campaign up to $2,000,000, a sum sufficient to have given the Sioux the $100,000 annual appropriation promised them for a period of twenty years.

A Spiteful Arrest.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—George Cunningham, for two years a trusted city solicitor of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company was arrested this morning on a charge of embezzlement preferred by W. T. Baker, who claims that Cunningham appropriated about $25 of funds of the Olympic Court of the Society of Foresters, of which he was treasurer. The opinion is expressed that the arrest is a piece of spite work.

Fire in Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—The interior of the Sullivan-Kelly Paint and Oil Company's warehouse was burned this morning. The firm's loss will be $8,000, and that of the owner of the property, E. Gunn, about $5,000.

New Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—In the suit of Florence Blythe against Abbie Ayers and others, Judge Coffey granted the defendants twenty days time from February 4th in which to perfect a motion for a new trial.

Timber Land Frauds Sentenced.

PORTLAND (Or.), Feb. 4.—C. F. Stone and E. J. Hyde, convicted of timber land frauds, were to-day sentenced by Judge Deady to terms of imprisonment of five and three years respectively.

Snow Blockade in Colorado.

PUEBLO (Col.), Feb. 4.—The snow blockade on the Santa Fe line near Palmer Lake is only temporarily raised. Trains have been stalled in this vicinity since Sunday morning.

NEVADA LEGISLATURE.

The Old Story, All Talk and No Cider.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

CARSON, Feb. 4.—It is exceedingly quiet in both branches of the Legislature. The Assembly adjourned after the morning hour's business and introducing the following bills:

By Allen of Churchill, exempting homestead and other property from forced sale in certain cases.

Ainsley's bill providing for parties applying for a liquor license to make affidavit to the Sheriff that they have not violated the 12 o'clock closing law, was made the special order for Monday next. It is destined to find its way into the Legislative waste basket, however.

Folsom's bill providing that the Warden of the State Prison shall hold office four years was refused engrossment. Folsom and Bell of Nye argued the proposition pro and con with the above result.

The Joint Committee appointed to canvass the vote on the Constitutional Convention question will most likely report to-morrow, as the fifteen days will be up.

SENATE.

The Senate, to save its reputation, concluded to hold an afternoon session. The following bills were introduced at the morning session:

By LaGrave of Humboldt, providing that railroad switches and frogs be blocked to prevent the feet of employees and others from being caught. (This measure we take to be a good deal like Cassidy's skin milk bill introduced a few years ago. It will do to talk on when anything comes up the members do not want passed.—ED. GAZETTE.)

Millet of Nye, introduced a bill fixing the attaches of the Legislature and defining their duties.

A Forger Skips.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—This morning a stranger walked into the Nevada Bank and presented to the paying teller a check for $800 signed by Col John Mosby. The signature was perfect and the teller was just about to pay the amount over to the man who presented the check, when he happened to remember that Colonel Mosby's account at the bank was less than $800. He took the check and walked back to President Hellman's office to see whether he should pay the overdraft. The man seeing there would probably be a difficulty about the payment of the check, promptly left the bank and has not since been seen. Colonel Mosby was communicated with and informed the bank officials that he had drawn no check on them to-day. The matter was reported to Captain Lees, who is now engaged in trying to find the forger.

Expensive Trial Begun.

LAKEPORT (Cal.), Feb. 4.—The trial of B. F. Staley, one of the white cap party that went to a camper's retreat near the Bradford mine last October, where Mrs. Ricke was killed, has begun in the Superior Court. It is estimated that the trial of these ten men will cost county fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, as each will be tried separately.

Farmers' Alliance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Presidents of the State organization of the National Farmers' Alliance met this morning for the purpose of formulating certain measures for presentation to Congress, and to map out some feasible plan of dissemination of literature of the council for educational purposes.

Theilman Arraigned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—M. C. Theilman was arraigned this morning in the United States District Court and pleaded not guilty on a charge of using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes. Theilman was at the head of the so-called Eagle Insurance Company.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

In Buenos Ayres to-day gold closed at 227 per cent. premium.

The steamer Spree has arrived at Southampton from New York, for Bremen.

General R. J. Henderson, a prominent Confederate officer, died to-day at Atlanta, Ga.

Elmer Clark, Superintendent of the Kansas City Cable Railroad Company, was killed to-day by a car.

Frank Porter, the head of a prominent lumber firm on Boulder Creek, Cal., died this morning of peritonitis.

The representative house painters and decorators from all over the country are holding their seventh annual convention in Boston to-day.

Lineberger & Co., who failed recently, compromised on a basis of twenty-five cents on the dollar, and the firm will resume business on exchange.

The citizens committee has completed the investigation of the affairs of the American National Bank, which failed two weeks ago at Kansas City. The committee will report favorably on re-opening the bank.

A Growl in a Good Cause.

The newspaper men do more work for a town and community than men engaged in any other class of business. They are expected to carefully guard all interest of a public nature, publish all the news of the day, watch carefully the local happenings, and in fact act as sponsor for the whole community. For all of this work they get nothing, comparatively speaking. The community does not appreciate the services rendered them in the slightest degree. They take it as a matter of course that the newspaper man has nothing to do but look after their interest, and never stop to think that it all costs money. More especially is this the case in smaller towns, where advertisers expect a whole page of space to be devoted to their particular line for $5 per month. The banks that collect a net titling of $30,000 per year each, off this community feel that a $10 ad. in a local paper is too much for them to pay. The business notices given in the GAZETTE's Christmas edition was worth all the advertisers paid for a whole year's work. Leading business houses are blind to their own interest when they do not allow their name to appear in the advertising columns of a good local paper.

The papers of Reno have been holding up the town for the last fifteen years and have done more to make it what it is than all other interests combined, and the non-advertisers share in the general prosperity brought about by the local papers. Does any one pretend for a moment that Reno would have been nearly as good a town as it is if the papers had not been proclaiming its advantages to the world during all these years? There are people in every community who have not a business idea above an oyster, who would subscribe for a San Francisco paper or send below for what little printing they required, when the home job offices would do it for even less money than it cost in the city, and they say "I can't afford to do otherwise." We received a letter a few days ago from Cedarville, asking us if a certain quite prominent firm was still in business in Reno. We answered the letter with a degree of good nature seldom displayed by men in any of the walks of life other than newspaper pursuits. We think, in view of passing events, this "growl," if such it may be called, is justifiable for the community at large owe more to the newspapers of the town than to all the other causes combined for the general prosperity that awaits the workers in Reno business pursuits.

In the infancy of the Salt Lake Tribune it was a very hard struggle to keep the paper afloat, and its stockholders levied frequent assessments, notwithstanding the fact that the gentle community patronized it liberally in extensive advertising and by liberal contributions. They recognized the fact that an active local press was the most effective means of attracting attention to the resources of Utah, and to Salt Lake City in particular, and the wisdom displayed by them at that time is proven by the rapid and almost phenomenal growth of a section of country that was looked upon at that time as one of the most uninviting spots in the United States. But prejudice was overcome, and one of the most serious biots on the escutcheon of our country received at once a serious check and is now tottering from the blows and knockouts administered by a stalwart newspaper that has constantly and persistently done battle for the people of Utah, and it could never have outlived the fight had not a generous and appreciative public sustained it by liberal patronage and cheerful support given at all times with no stinted hand.

The mining representatives in the California Legislature will push a resolution asking the Congressional delegation to secure the enactment of Federal laws permitting hydraulic mining in such a manner that the property of others will not be injured or the navigability of rivers impaired. If they will show says the Bulletin, how that can be done there will be no opposition from any quarter to working our gravel deposits, but it will require a different showing from anything yet made. Every device thus far presented for that purpose has proved a snare and a delusion.

AN ALTRUISTIC CLUB.

It Embraces the Noblest Teachings of Mankind.

A Band of Public Spirited Men Who Are Interested in the Problem of Life, and the Betterment of Social Conditions.

In his department of "Social Problems" in the Cosmopolitan, Edward Everett Hale tells of a Boston club to which he belongs, the substantial business of which is expressed in this article of its constitution: "This club exists to find out how other people live." After describing the original plan, which was abandoned as impracticable for the end in view, Mr. Hale tells how the club was finally brought into being. "What we did," he says, "was to bring together sixty young men, pretty much by accident, and then take our chances of adding other people who were interested in the life of Boston and its social system—always glad in making a good choice, as far as other qualities went, we got in a new occupation."

"But for the purpose of finding out how other people live we actually went to see. That is, the first committee the club appointed, and it was a large one, was on emigrant ships. We sent a lot of young fellows down to quarantine to come up in an emigrant ship and see how that thing was done. In just the same lines, from that day to this, we have let men volunteer to form committees for the sake of seeing that we did not know any thing about."

"For instance, we had a committee on the Mormon worship in Boston. We had a committee on the Italian section, one on the Chinese section, one on the city's orphan asylum, one on all the hospitals, one on our Norwegian population. And we never had a more interesting meeting than when an intelligent Norwegian gentleman came round and told us the peculiarities of the Scandinavian races among us, being kind enough, as I remember, among other things, to bring us some of the biscuit and sardines which I think none of us had ever seen before."

"Now, you can not go as far as this in indulging your curiosity without going further. If you are good for any thing, you begin to get into the same relationships that my ideal John, out in the territory of Franklin, forms as a matter of course with the burro driver or with the washerwoman. You not only know by sight the people with whom you are thrown, but you come into personal relationships with them."

"If there happens to be a bright boy living within a quarter of a mile of your office, and you happen to make acquaintance with him one day, that acquaintance does not drop off. You and he get on a more cordial footing with each other; you have gained a friend and he has gained a brother."

"How clear it is that it is this sort of give-and-take which is necessary for the quickening of the public life, for making the circulation from organ to organ, effective and for the health of the whole body politic. I do not want to be carried away by a metaphor, but really Menenius Agrippa's fable, which St. Paul borrowed to such advantage afterward, tells perfectly. You have a healthy body if each part is in close and intimate relation with each other part, if the circulation is good and if the circulation is well oxygenated."

"The object of this present writing is to show people who are discouraged that their business is to bring in that public spirit into souls and organs where there is not enough of it, so that the life of that community may be more active, cheerful and strong. Now, this is done, not merely by attending a ward meeting once a year, but by genuine and cordial intimacy with all sorts of people."

"Exactly as everybody in a country village knows more or less of the ups and downs of forty or fifty households around him—exactly as the life of one person quickens or helps the life of another person in such a community—is it in the power of man, or woman living in Chicago or New York to be in such relationships with forty households of every social condition of life, enlarged, inspired, and, as Mr. Arnold says, sweetened by the intimacy."

"Just so soon as the Christian church or the ethical philosophers or any of the disciples of altruism bring about this state of things, so soon will this country take up again the line of march on which it began. This is the line of march which historically is called the Teutonic, German or English plan. In it every one paddles his own canoe, but is in friendly relations with the rest of the fleet. Everybody is his own master, but it is friendly relations with people who know more than he does."

"And when the administrators of the government look for something to do with such a fleet they find that in the whole, it is taking care of itself. People who doubt about such a state of things are invited to remember with how little action of the President the country fared while dear Garfield lay dying. Or, if their memories run back to the year 1855, they are invited to remember how well the people of Kansas got on twelve months when they had no government that they would acknowledge."

Religions in the United States.

The census announcement that there are a hundred and forty religious bodies in the United States, exclusive of many independent congregations, will be received, says the Providence (R. I.) Journal, with some surprise by most people whose knowledge of different sects does not embrace more than a dozen or twenty at the most. In the list as disclosed by the preliminary bulletin issued by the Census Bureau from Washington are the General-Six-Principle Baptists, the Schwerkfeldians, the Theosophical Society, the Life and Advent Union, and others which to a majority of people will be entirely new. With a hundred and forty creeds formally adopted and "many independent organizations" with their own notions besides, the task of those who favor church unions is difficult indeed. If only the more numerous denominations existed the labor of effecting a unity of churches with regard to polity and the more essential doctrines might be easier. What shall be said when a hundred little denominations, sturdy in their beliefs and customs, are in the field, loth to give them up?

Notice.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, the State of Nevada sends Joseph Quijada greetings:

You are hereby requested to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Mary M. Quijada as plaintiff in the District Court of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein ten days after the service on you of this summons, (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said period, and in all other cases for special judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint.

The said action is brought to recover judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you and plaintiff, and for costs of all which will fully appear in the Complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County, and to which you are especially referred.

And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said Complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 2nd day of January A. D. 1891.

Confirmed.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers, the California Fig Syrup Company.

A Most Valuable Agent.

Mr. Armagard, M. D., 95 Jackson St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Being familiar with the stimulating, healing and anodyne properties of Alcock's Pectoral Plaster, I commend them as a most valuable agent in the class of diseases for which they are intended. The stimulating action when worn over the gastric region materially aids in restoring strength and energy to digestion, and the consequent building up of tissue and restoring tone to the general system."

Several years ago Chamberlain & Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, commenced the manufacture of a cough syrup, believing it to be the most prompt and reliable preparation yet produced for coughs, colds and croup; and that the public appreciate true merit, and in time it was certain to become popular. Their most sanguine hopes have been more than realized. Over three hundred thousand bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are now sold every year, and it is recognized as "the best made," wherever known. It will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. For sale by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

There is no danger of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used as directed "for a severe cold." It effectually counteracts and arrests any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. This fact was wholly proven in thousands of cases during the epidemic of influenza last winter. For sale by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

The Pulvis and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shurt, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mountain, Ky., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased and my physicians thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 30 pounds in weight."

Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am convinced Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousands of friends is to use them to try it. Free trial bottles at Dr. King's drug store. Keep your eyes and ears open."

How to Break up a Severe Cold.

From the Virginia City, Mont. Madrasian. When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By the use of this syrup we have relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely recovered them up as has several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. Sold by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

Speech.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alternative. If you are troubled with any disease of the kidneys or liver or stomach, or long or short standing you will surely find relief by the use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle at W. P. Plummer's drug store.

A Progressive Merchant.

A. Nelson is progressive. He has recently laid in a very extensive stock of choice cutlery, consisting of knives of all kinds and dimensions, which he is selling at remarkably low prices. He also runs a free intelligence office, and gets most anybody a job who applies. Give him a call.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's SORROWING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A SENSIBLE OPINION.

"Observer" Wants an Experiment Tried That It Carried out Will do Much for the State.

RENO, Feb. 4, 1891.

EDITOR GAZETTE: I have read with much interest the many answers to your request for an expression of opinion as to the most beneficial law that could be passed by our present legislature, and while I confess that there is much merit in many of the propositions, I still think that there is room for another, and hence I ask consideration of the one I offer.

The general government has established an Agricultural Experiment Station in Nevada, and presumably it is filling its mission, but I believe if the experiments are conducted over a wider field than at present, some positive results could be arrived at in shorter time than if conducted as at present. I therefore suggest that the Legislature pass a law authorizing the Board of Control to appropriate a sum sufficient to have an experiment made in each county in the State in the cultivation of sugar beets. Have one acre or less of land in each county prepared, seeded and cultivated under the supervision of the Station, and when harvested have a chemical test made at the laboratory of the Station, of the product from each county, and ascertain if sugar beets can be raised in quantity and quality sufficient to warrant capital in the erection of a sugar factory and refinery at some central point. By this means practical and positive results can be obtained and that matter can be fully set at rest and determined.

There is ample time to make such an experiment this year as the planting would not occur earlier than the month of May, and there is ample time to obtain the seed and make arrangements for the experiment. Let the law provide that each county delegation select some farmer in their respective counties to undertake the work at a compensation sufficient only to cover the actual expense of planting, cultivating and harvesting the crop, and after supplying the chemist at the Station with such samples for analysis as may be needed, take the remains of the crop for compensation. Such experiments have been made elsewhere, notably in North Dakota, and in that blizzard ridden region, satisfactory results are obtained, certainly Nevada must possess soil and climate equally as well, if not better suited for the purpose named. My belief is that if an attempt can be made in the manner indicated, the natural rivalry of the different counties would stimulate each one to do its best, and the results would be satisfactory and conclusive. The development of any new industry is of slow process, and unless it is properly directed with an ultimate object in view the results will be barren. In this case, however, it can be determined within a reasonable length of time (at furthest within the present year) whether or not such an industry can be created in this State. And during this year, the experiment now being made in Utah will also guide us in forming conclusions as to the feasibility of beet sugar culture here. It will not require the outlay of much money from the appropriation now given to the State, and will I think be productive of as much good as will be the limited experiments now being conducted in the immediate neighborhood of the Experimental Station. All of which is respectfully submitted for the consideration of our law makers, with the hope that they will adopt and act upon the suggestions.

OSWALD.

NOT ENTIRELY ALONE.

The Lady was Good Natured but the Drummer was Confused. He was a drummer, and he boarded the V & T train just before it pulled out for Virginia, and while there were many vacant seats, he deliberately sat down beside an attractive young woman whom he thought might serve to make the trip a pleasant one, and said "I quite forgot to ask your permission." She replied in an amused manner, "That's of no consequence." "Thank you very much," he said. "Traveling alone?" "Not entirely," she said pleasantly, "My brother sits there in the corner, my sister is just back of him, and my husband is in the smoker." The drummer was quite hastily and said, "I believe there's a man I must go and see," and seizing his grip he stepped off and waited for the local train in the afternoon, when he resumed his journey to Virginia, with his hat pulled down over his eyes.

The Goodrich Company.

Piper's Opera House was fairly well filled last night, says the Virginia Chronicle, to witness the production of "The Little Countess," which furnished Miss Goodrich an opportunity of displaying in the same piece her remarkable versatility, as the character she represented was one of blended pathos and comedy. The representations given by this company have all been satisfactory to the audience, for they have given far above the average of those given by higher-priced shows. Notwithstanding they play at popular prices, there are no "cheap people" in the troupe, not a member of which who would not rank well in a stock company in any first-class theater in a metropolitan city.

The troupe will appear here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

San Francisco Meat Market.

Mutton and lamb both continue scarce. About everything else in the meat line is in fair receipt. The following are the rates for dealers in San Francisco: BEEF—First quality, 6c; second quality 5 1/2c; third quality, 4 1/2c; 4 1/4c; 4 1/8c. Quotable at 5 1/2c for large and 6c for small. MUTTON—Quotable at 5 1/2c for large and 6c for small. LAMB—Spring, 15c; whole carcasses on foot, grain fed, heavy, 4 1/4c; light, 4 1/8c; dressed Hogs, 7 1/2c.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Dr. G. H. Thoma Selected as the Man for the Insane Asylum.

RENO, Feb. 4, 1891.

Dr. G. H. Thoma of Reno last evening received the appointment of Superintendent of the Insane Asylum, and will from the 1st of March next have charge of that institution. The Board of Commissioners for the Care of the Insane used excellent judgment in selecting Dr. Thoma, for, as a physician, he ranks second to none on the coast, and his business training and attainments are such as to insure first class management of the place. He will be the Superintendent in fact as well as in name and will be held strictly accountable for any mistakes he may make, but as serious blunders are unknown in the Dr.'s vocabulary the Gazette bespeaks for him a very successful administration, and congratulates the Board on being able to secure the services of so competent a man.

It is understood that the retiring Superintendent, Dr. Bishop, intends taking up his residence in Sacramento immediately after he turns the institution over to Dr. Thoma.

THE STORM IN UTAH.

It Went Eastward Instead of Coming West.

Salt Lake City was visited by a heavy snow storm on last Sunday, while we of Western Nevada were complaining of the dust in the streets and enjoying bright sunshine and weather as balmy as spring. Of the storm in Salt Lake the Tribune says: By 6 p. m. the wind had shifted to the northwest and down came the snow in flakes thicker than Alaska mosquitoes. It snowed continuously, and at midnight it was snowing still, without the slightest regard for the feelings of peacemakers and reporters. The eastern wires came useless bright and early, and press reports came by the Rio Grande wires, as the brunt of the storm was to the north and west. The street cars had a high old time of it, especially the twentieth ward cars, which had to run up and down the header with men sweeping the rails.

STOCKTON SENSATION.

A District Attorney Who Knows His Duty, and Doesn't Flinch in Performing It.

Paul W. Bennett, the District Attorney of San Joaquin county, Cal., has created a sensation in Stockton. When in counting the money in the County Treasury, he refused to recognize a certificate of deposit for $250,000 on one of the local banks. The count stopped right there, and the matter will probably go into the courts. If it does it will result in the District Attorney being sustained, and the local bank will have to call in some of its loans to make good the certificate of deposit. The same question was raised fifteen years ago by the same person while acting as District Attorney in another county, and the County Treasurer was only too well pleased to comply with the requirements of the law, rather than face prosecution.

Roll of Honor.

Following is the roll of honor for the month ending January 30, 1891, of the Huffaker School District:

Joseph Bisagor, 98; Mamie Crook, 93; Lillian Campbell, 100; Edith Campbell, 97; Bettie Cooper, 97; Hattie Cooper, 100; Arthur Cooper, 97; Ruby Ede, 93; Philip Ede, 98; Tony Fretis, 100; Katie Fretis, 96; Daisy Holcomb, 100; Myrtle Holcomb, 100; Richard Holcomb, 100; George Holcomb, 100; Willie Lyell, 96; Lulu Lyell, 100; Maud Lyell, 100; Lucy Lyell, 100; Lizzie Longley, 98; Alfred Longley, 94; Susie Marrett, 95; Lillie Sherman, 97; Bessie Wright, 100; Willie Wright, 100.

MARY E. DAVIES, Teacher.

Cattle Trail from Arizona.

The Bascommonti Cattle Company of Arizona started 2,000 cattle on the trail from Tucson for Salinas, California, recently. The trail is via Yuma and Los Angeles, then up the coast. The company's estimate cost of driving is $2 per head, while the present railroad rate, with cost of feed, would be about $6 per head. This and several other large drives soon to be made are owing to the inability of cattlemen there to pay railroad rates. It is understood among cattlemen here that the California trail will be used exclusively in the future for large shipments of cattle.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENING.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Bender Entertain About Fifty Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Bender, assisted by their daughters, the Misses Clara and Bessie, entertained about fifty of their friends last evening at their home on Boston street. The first of the evening was spent by the guests in tracing out the intricate meshes of a "cob web." This caused much merriment. After the cob web mystery cards were responded to, and a happy evening spent by all those who were fortunate enough to be there.

Dull Times in Butte.

All that glitters is not gold, and from the following extract from the Butte Miner, copper has its periods of depression as well as silver. The Miner says: "The present stagnation in the copper market is having its effect on some of the copper properties of this city, and a few have been compelled to close down until such time as the silver market can offer individual mine workers something for their product."

Accident in a Mine.

An accident occurred at the Pumas Eureka mine last Wednesday while two miners were engaged in drilling out a hole where the blast had not fired to the bottom, in which it is supposed some giant powder remained. One of the men, named Samuel Floyd, will probably lose his sight, as both eyes were severely burned. The other one, J. Crocker, had his hands badly lacerated.

Grand Jury Meeting.

The Grand Jury will meet Saturday morning, Feb. 7th, 1891, at 10 o'clock sharp. By order of C. C. POWING, Foreman.

Local and General Intelligence.

The wool situation east, west and everywhere is encouraging.

At a recent sale of Merino rams in Australia one sold at $3,500 and another at $2,500.

L. Brooks this morning shipped five carloads of beef cattle to Hayes & Co. of San Francisco.

There will be a meeting of the Clerks' League on Thursday evening at their headquarters.

A party of eastern capitalists have arrived at Lovelocks to examine the testimony mine there, presumably with a view of purchasing.

A meeting of citizens of Lovelocks will be held on Wednesday evening for the purpose of discussing the proper legislation on matters relating to water, irrigation, etc.

"Time's Flying Feet"—It was a girl in Reno who recently went into a shoe store and asked for a pair of half-past four boots. John Sunderland keeps all sizes of boots and shoes, but they ain't built that way.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: A great deal of attention is being paid to the new country in Southern Nevada, through which the Salt Lake & Los Angeles Railroad is being built. Rich mines have been discovered all along the new line. The old town of Pioche is beginning to boom and the mining interests are also making things lively.

Reports from all parts of Montana are encouraging as to the outlook for sheep. But little snow has fallen and the flocks thus far have wintered well without being fed any hay to speak of.

There is good mutton to be had in every flock and the chances were never more favorable than now for their going through the winter without loss.

PERSONALS.

John Sparks of the firm of Sparks & Tinnin is in Reno to-day.

H. M. Yerington was in town last night and returned to Carson this morning.

Col. A. C. Ellis came down from Carson last night and went on to San Francisco.

Ston Thomas Wren came down from the capital last night looking as bright as he was at the banquet.

Earnest Hawley was a passenger from Carson last night, bound for San Francisco where he goes to reside.

Miss Wiley, a sister of Mrs. Dr. Thoma, arrived from Sacramento last night on a visit to friends and relatives.

Mrs. A. E. Wright (nee Dealy) and her two little ones arrived from Fresno this morning and will make her home here in the future.

W. A. Cobb of Verdi was in town to-day, and reported that preparations are made for an enjoyable time at the masquerade on Friday night.

Dan McDonald, a pioneer prospector of Nevada, returned this morning after an absence of two years in California, and went on to Candelaria, where he will be in the employ of the Holmes Mining Co.

ADDIE PARK, Teacher.

The Musical Statesman.

The Evening News of Sacramento says: With the retirement into private life of 'Bob' Taylor, the Gubernatorial violinist of Tennessee, the honor of being champion fiddler among American statesmen will rest with ex-Governor Oglesby, who is trying to get into the Senate from Illinois.

Wells, you forget Governor Laughton of Washington, whose fiddling is as sweet as his smile.

Chinese New Years.

Chinese New Years begins on next Saturday, when hog meat, chickens, and firecrackers will likely take a raise. Reno Chinamen are preparing to celebrate with great eclat.

Protect Your Health.

Cold and moisture combined have a torporating effect on the bodily organs, and the digestive and secretory processes are apt to be more tardily performed in winter than in the fall. The same is true, also, of the excretory functions. The bowels are often sluggish, and the pores of the skin throw off but little waste matter at this season. The system, therefore, requires opening up a little, and also purifying and regulating, and the safest, surest and most thorough tonic and alterative that can be used for these purposes is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Persons who wish to escape the rheumatic twinges, the dyspeptic agonies, the painful disturbances of the bowels, the bilious attacks, and the nervous vibrations, so common at this time of the year, will do well to reinforce their system with this renowned vegetable stomachic and invigorant. It improves the appetite, strengthens the stomach, clears the system, and renovates the whole physique.

HE WAS ASHAMED.

To Ask Again, but His Frank Letter Got It for Him.

A few months ago one of the unfortunate inmates in the San Francisco Alms House was inspired by the sensational statements in the newspapers with the belief that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla would help him. But without money, how to get it was the question. Finally he wrote to the Edwin W. Joy Co., appealing to their generosity, and it was not unheeded, the coveted preparation being sent by the next parcel delivery. Its effect is best told in a subsequent letter, from which we quote the following:—

"I suppose you know me by this writing, my circumstances and condition. As though improving, I ask of your generosity for another bottle of your Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Its laxative action is perfection itself. It has so thoroughly regulated my system that my catarrh, rheumatism, constipation, and headaches are all better. I feel ashamed to ask in this way, but what shall I do? I thought I might not need any more, but I am now anxious to keep it up; but you see how it is!"

It was sent, and he can get more if he needs it.

The Problem Solved.—An Un-ri-ved Blood Purifier.

Found at last in Hilbard's Rheumatic Syrup.—A remedy which expels all poisonous matter and toxins of disease from the blood. A well known citizen of West Lebanon, N.H., testifies to its value.

GENTLEMEN: It affords me pleasure to state that my wife has received greater benefit from Hilbard's Rheumatic Syrup than from any medicine she has ever taken. We have used six bottles, and find it the most truly remedial and greatest blood purifier we have ever used. It is truly all in all is claimed to be by its founder. You cannot recommend it too highly. Yours truly, FRANK WALLACE.

Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson, Proprietor only by the Charles Wright Medicine Company, Detroit, Mich.

No Safer Remedy can be had for coughs and colds, or any trouble of the throat, than "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Price 25c. Sold only in boxes.

The most delicate constitution can safely use Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm; it is a sure remedy for coughs, loose voice, and all throat and lung diseases.

THE SKIN.

Is an important factor in keeping good health; if it does not act in the way intended by nature, its functions are performed by other organs, the Kidneys and the Lungs; and the result is a breakdown of general health.

Swift's Specific

Is the remedy of nature to stimulate the skin to proper action. It never fails in this, and always accomplishes the purpose.

WHEN TIME IS DONE.

"Hereafter in a better world I see this. I shall desire more love and knowledge of you."—As You Like It.
Now and again, amid the thronging streets, As hastening through our daily round we go, Our pulses to unthought measures beat, To some face of light, Seen and then again whistled.
Whereat we muse: "How fair a soul to know!"
Now and again, in quiet peaceful hours, Some precious page will steal our hearts away:
The while we read we feel life's dormant powers:
"To touch that robe of white, Live in that presence bright! Why dwell we not near that sweet saint?" we say.

Now and again the patient waiting faces Of aged folk whose days are nearly run, Gentle manhood, children's tender graces, Bring wistful joy like pain.
Could these with us remain, How different were life beneath our sun!

Once and forever, from beyond the sun, Shall come the light to show all longing heart Their never-found, their loved and lost, each one;
And thus great promise give
Shall love and knowledge have when time is done.
—W. Henry Winslow, in Youth's Companion.

A MOTHER-IN-LAW.

How a Fault-Finding Husband Was Trapped by Her Aid.

By its mild, soothing, antiseptic, cleansing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. "Cold in the Head" is cured with a few applications of this medicine. It is reliable and cured as if by magic. It removes offensive breath, loss or impairment of the sense of taste, smell or hearing, watering or weak eyes, and impaired memory, when caused by the violence of Catarrh, as they all frequently are. Sold by druggists, at fifty cents. Manufactured by World's Dispensary Medical Association, 602 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I wouldn't have believed it of you, Rachel," said Mrs. Edmonstone, plaintively. "No, I wouldn't, not unless Betsy Tacker had told me; and Betsy, she never told a lie no more than George Washington did."

"Why, mother, what are you talking about?" questioned Mrs. Thomas Edmonstone, untangling the elder lady's bonnet strings and relieving her of a splint basket, a black silk bag, a waterproof cloak and an umbrella.

"And I've come to see if it's true," added the old lady.

"If what's true, mother?" "That you said you wished there wasn't no such person as me!" faltered Mrs. Edmonstone.

"Mother, you know I never could have said such a thing!" cried out Rachel.

"Well, it wasn't exactly that; but Betsy Tacker heard you say you wished there was no such a thing as a mother-in-law."

"Oh!" cried Rachel, with a hysterical little laugh, "I plead guilty. I did say that. But oh! mother! it was under such strong provocation, and I never meant you. How could I, when you have always been so good to me?"

"I know it couldn't be true," said Mrs. Edmonstone, settling herself in the easiest rocking-chair and nodding her cap-strings comfortably. "But how came you to make that extra-ordinary speech, Rachel, about mothers-in-law in general?"

"It was Tom," said the young wife. "He was so aggravating."

"Thomas always was aggravating," said Mrs. Edmonstone, stirring the cup of tea that Rachel had brought her. "And what was it about now? The breakfast cakes?"

"Well, you know he said it was such a wasteful, extravagant proceeding to buy shirts ready-made," explained Rachel. "If said the linen was poor, and the work regular shop-style, and he declared you always used to make his shirts at home, every stitch, before he was married."

"So I did," acknowledged Mrs. Edmonstone, with a groan. "But that was in the old times, before you could buy such a good article as they have now."

"Yes, but Tom doesn't make any allowance for difference in times and customs," sighed Rachel. "He wanted home-made shirts, and home-made shirts he would have!"

"And you made 'em?" "Yes, I made them."

"You were a great goose," reflectively spoke Mrs. Edmonstone. "And—And Tom swore dreadfully the first time he put one on!"

"I don't in the least doubt it." "And he said they set like meal bags, and that they twisted his neck around as if he had just been hanged, and grasped him on the shoulders like a policeman! Oh, I can't tell you what he didn't say!"

"Bless me!" said Mrs. Edmonstone. "He told me his mother's shirts set like a glove, and fitted him perfectly, and why couldn't I turn out a shirt like those? And it was then, mother dear," suddenly flinging her arms around the old lady's plump, comfortable neck, "that I lost my head, and told him I wished there wasn't such a thing as a mother-in-law in the world! And Betsy Tacker sat in the sewing-room altering over my dolman in the spring style, and I suppose she must have heard me."

"Don't mind it, my dear," said Mrs. Edmonstone. "No, I won't," protested Rachel. "But, oh, those shirts! I've been ripping them apart and sewing them together again, and rounding off a gusset here, and taking in a plait there, until I've got so that I dream of 'em at night; and the more I try 'em on the wabler Tom becomes. My mother never made such work of it as this!" says he."

"Thomas forgets," observed Mrs. Edmonstone, severely. "And I am sure, if things go on like this," added Rachel, pushing her short brown curls off her forehead, "it will end in a separation on account of incompatibility of temper."

"No, it won't, my dear," said the mother-in-law. "Here, get me the pattern and some shirting muslin, and a pair of scissors."

"What are you going to do, mother?" eagerly questioned Rachel. "I'm going to make Tom a shirt. But don't you tell him, Rachel. We'll see whether it is Tom or the pattern that has altered."

Once more the mischievous light came into Rachel's bright blue eyes. "I wish all the world were mothers-in-law!" she cried gleefully. "Why didn't I think of this before?" "One can't think of every thing, child," said Mrs. Edmonstone, consolingly.

Thomas Edmonstone welcomed his mother cordially when he came home from business.

"I'm so glad you've come!" said he. "We can have some of the nice old-fashioned dishes now. Rachel can't seem to get the hang of them, although she has always had your book of recipes to guide her."

"Rachel's a good deal better cook than ever I pretended to be," said Mrs. Edmonstone. "They have patent egg-beaters and cream-whippers and raisin-seeders, and all that sort of thing now, that they didn't have in my day. I never tasted nicer bread than Rachel makes, and these pop-overs are delicious."

"You're just saying that to encourage Rachel," said Mrs. Edmonstone, with an incredulous smile. "Things will run smooth now you've come. That's one comfort."

"Oh, I shouldn't think of interfering in Rachel's kitchen," said the old lady. "Please do, mother," coaxed the wife, not without a certain quiver in her lip. "Do let Tom have a reminiscence of the old days while you are here."

"Well, just as you children say," conceded the mother-in-law, good-humoredly.

She remained a week at her son's house, during which period of time Tom was all exultant complacency.

"This," said he, "is something like living. I feel myself a boy again when I taste these apple-fritters."

"They're not bad," said Rachel, who had made them with her own skillful hands. And she helped herself to a little of the sauce.

"And why didn't you learn my mother's knack of making such pie-crust as this?" demanded Tom. "There's no dyspepsia here."

"I'm glad you're pleased," said Rachel, with a guilty glance at her mother-in-law. "Oh, by the way, Tom, the last of the set of shirts is finished now. Will you put it on to-morrow?"

"I suppose so," ungraciously uttered Tom. "Will set like fury, I dare say, like all the rest of them!"

"You might at least give it a trial." "Didn't I say I would?" still more ungraciously. "Those shirts will be the death of me yet," he added, turning to his mother with a groan, while Rachel sat steadily observing the pattern of the tablecloth.

The breakfast stood smoking on the table next morning when Mr. Edmonstone came into the room twisting himself as if he were practising to be a human corkscrew. Mrs. Edmonstone glanced timidly up at him.

"Doesn't it fit, Tom?" she questioned. "Fit! Just look at it, will you?" he retorted. "Fit! Hangs like a window-curtain around my neck—pinches my wrist like a pair of handcuffs! I feel as if I were in a strait-jacket!"—writhing impatiently to and fro. "Oh, I might have known it beforehand. You haven't an idea what the world fit means. I wish, mother, you could teach this wife of mine how to make a decent shirt."

"Thomas," said Mrs. Edmonstone solemnly, transfixing him with the glistering spheres of her spectacle glasses, "you are not very polite. I made that shirt."

"Oh, mother!" "Yes, I myself. Just as I used to make shirts for you in the old times that you're always sighing after. I've been working at it ever since I've been in the house. Throw away the pattern, Rachel, and don't waste any more time trying to make your husband's shirts," she added. "It's an economy of time and temper, as well as of money, to buy them ready-made. And as for the cooking, you have been praising up so eloquently all the time I've been here, Tom, I haven't touched a pot or a pan. It's all your wife's work. So much for imagination! Oh, you needn't hang your head so sheepishly; you're neither better nor worse than most men," went on Mrs. Edmonstone. "I never saw the man yet that didn't need to hear a little wholesome truth now and then. You've got the best and sweetest little wife in the world."

"Mother!" pleaded Rachel, trying to put her hand over the old lady's mouth, but Mrs. Edmonstone resolutely persisted.

"And it's my advice to you to try to treat her as she deserves." "I—I don't know but I have been rather cranky of late," said Tom, self-consciously, "now that I come to think of it."

"Cranky! I should think so," said the old lady. "I'm sure I don't know what the world's coming to. Here's little Georgy toddling around with his wooden cart. The first you know he'll be telling his wife about the wonderful successes his mother used to make in this, and that, and the other thing. We've all got to come to it!"

"And Georgy'll be right," said Tom, who, after all, had a magnanimous streak through him. "What a crab I'll buy 'em out of the stove next time! Kiss me, Rachel—and you, too, mother. And be sure you let me have a dish of scalloped oysters when I come home to dinner." The oysters Rachel cooked.

He ate his breakfast and departed. And when he was gone, young Mrs. Edmonstone looked with shining eyes at old Mrs. Edmonstone.

"Oh, what a nice thing to have a mother-in-law!" said she, fervently. "Fire-side Companion."
